Alterations and additions to Part A of the Farrukhabad District Gazetteer bringing it up to date.

CHAPTER I.—GENERAL FEATURES.

Page 1, lines 1—4.

Delete Replace by "The district of Farrukhabad is, with Etawah, to the west of the Allahabad division. Both districts were transferred to the Allahabad from the Agra division at the end of 1911: then, also, Meerut division lost Aligarh district to Agra and the new division of Jhansi, consisting of Jalaun, Jhansi, Hamirpur, and Banda districts, was formed from the old Allahabad division.

Farrukhabad district lies along the Ganges, which forms its northern and eastern boundary except for the Aligarh tahsil."

Page 23, line 22, and last sentence.

Delete "is worthy of note and indicates concealment," and the last sentence.

Add.—

"Was worthy of note in 1901 and indicated concealment. Of the district total of 1911, no less than 1,175 were males and the male lepers outnumbered the female ones by more than two to one. But in 1911 the disproportion was small: out of the district total of 2,538, 1,520 were males: it was most noticeable amongst the 351 deaf-mutes, of whom 224 were males."

CHAPTER II.—AGRICULTURE AND COMMERCE.

[In 1911-12 (1319 fasli) the cultivated area was 645,999 acres.]

Taking the average for the four years ending in 1913 this area amounted to 248,420 acres.

Page 25, line 30.

Groves occupied 34,373 acres—new fallow covered 45,332 acres, while 738 acres were land prepared for sugarcane but not yet under a crop. There remain therefore 167,977 acres, of which 44,746 consist of old fallow and the remainder of culturable waste.

Page 27, line 21.

[The cultivated area from which more than one crop was taken in 1319 fasli was 102,798 acres.]

[In pargana Pahara the area bearing more than one crop in 1319 fasli was 6,838 acres or 44·95 per cent. of the total cultivated area of 15,213 acres.]

Page 27, last line but one.

Delete "42·8 per cent." and write "49·2 per cent."

[In 1319 fasli it formed 18·85 per cent. in Tiwa tahsil : in Farrukhabad 17·38 per cent. ; in Kanauj 16·43 per cent. ; in Aligarh 15·7 per cent. ; in Kaimganj 14·25 per cent. ; and in Chhibramau 12·48 per cent.]

Page 28, line 19.

[In 1319 fasli (1911-12) the rabi area was 413,891 acres and the kharif area was 391,030 acres. In Kanauj only did the kharif area exceed that of the rabi ; it was there more than twice as large. In the other tahsils the rabi slightly exceeded the kharif area except in Aligarh where the rabi area was more than double that of the kharif.]

Page 28, line 27.

[In 1319 juar alone and mixed covered an area of 81,571 acres or 25·41 of the kharif area. The proportion was highest in Aligarh tahsil, 34·6 per cent. of the kharif area and lowest in Kaimganj, 20·99 per cent.]

[In 1319 bajra alone and mixed covered a total area of 114,151 acres or 35·36 of the total kharif area. Aligarh tahsil returned the highest percentage, 56·51, and Tirwa the lowest, 22·92.]

Page 29, line 18.

The average of the area under maize during the last four years 1316—19 was 60,874 acres or 16·88 per cent. of the total kharif area.

Much rice-land has been thrown out of cultivation of late years owing to unfavourable rains.

[In 1319 fasli rice covered an area of 10,151 acres or 3·16 per cent. of the kharif total. In the same year the highest tahsil percentage of kharif area under rice was in Tirwa 7·49 per cent. whilst in Farrukhabad there was only 66 per cent. under rice.]

Page 30, line 28.

Cotton during the last four years 1317—1320 has covered an average area of 24,509 acres or 6.94 per cent. of the kharif area.

Page 30, last line.

The average area under sugarcane from 1317 to 1320 was 18,445 acres or 5.22 per cent of the total kharif area.

Page 31, line 6.

[In 1320 fasli there were 7,881 acres of sugarcane in Kaimganj tahsil or about 12 per cent. of the kharif area.]

Page 31, line 9.

The area under wheat alone in the years 1316—1319 fasli averaged 113,026 acres or 28.52 per cent. of the rabi area while wheat combined with other crops accounted for 76,619 acres or 19.33 per cent.

Page 31, line 11.

Barley came next with 67,250 acres by itself, i.e. 10.69 per cent. and 99,238 acres or 25.40 per cent. in combination with gram. Gram only covered 14,666 acres or 3.72 per cent. of the rabi area. Poppy covered 17,019 acres or 4.29 per cent. of the rabi area.

Page 31, line 28.

During the four years 1316—1319 fasli potatoes covered an average area of 13,010 acres or 3.30 per cent. of the rabi area.

(Note on the potato moth.)

“In 1912 the potato moth began to attack seed potatoes in this district. The moth was introduced into the United Provinces from Patna by way of Lucknow and Cawnpore. It is black and about one-third of an inch in length. It lays its eggs in clusters four or five upon the potato tubers. These eggs hatch out in about seven days and the caterpillars bore into the tubers and keep feeding for about 15 days. They then pupate inside or on the surface of the tubers, first enclosing themselves in a slight cocoon like spider’s web. The moths come out of the pupae in about ten days, couple, and lay eggs for the next generation.

Page 32, line 9.—(continued).

These larvae or caterpillars not only injure the seed potatoes in the godowns but also the plants as they stand in the fields. The main stem and leaf stems are then bored into and the growth of the plant considerably checked. But the injury done to the seed potatoes in the godowns is much more serious and it is only here that preventive measures can be taken.

The methods to be adopted are these. First the seed potatoes should be dipped in a solution of crude oil emulsion, one pint to 12 gallons of water, and then thoroughly dried. One five gallon drum of this oil costs about Rs. 7 and is sufficient for 1,000 maunds of seed. This dipping of the potatoes destroys any eggs that may have been laid on them. If the potatoes have already got the larvae on them, they should be handpicked before treatment or the results will be unsatisfactory.

The storage godown should be well fumigated with sulphur. Sand, neither damp nor hot, should be placed on the floor about two inches deep: a layer of potatoes should then be put on it, then another stratum of sand completely covering the potatoes, and so on.

The sand prevents the moth from laying new eggs on the potatoes.

If the potatoes are at first carefully selected the treatment with crude oil emulsion may be omitted.

During 1912 there were several conferences of potato-growers in Farrukhabad tahsil and this method was explained to them by officers of the Agricultural department. They remained, however, sceptically inert and in 1913 the department hired a building at Bholepur and 100 maunds of seed potatoes were treated and stored. It is anticipated that this action will be an object lesson and pay its own costs as well."

Page 34, line 3.

"In 1319 fasli 162,332 or 25.13 per cent. of the total area cultivated that year, were irrigated. Out of this total irrigated area, 56,993 acres were irrigated from canals, 89,991 from wells, and 15,348 from other sources."

The refineries use about 117,000 maunds, from which about 67,000 maunds of refined saltpetre and 22,000 maunds of salt are extracted. These figures are for the three years average between 1910 and 1913.

Page 57, line 26.

Delete "3 peons on Rs. 7" and write "3 peons on Rs. 8 or 9."

Page 58, line 24.

Rewrite the sentence as follows :—

During the three years 1910—12, the exports from the Farukhabad station of the Cawnpore-Achnera railway averaged 775,486 maunds. Of this total 16,130 maunds consisted of oil-seeds, 16,413 maunds of metals, 12,431 maunds of piece goods, and 1,174 of twist and yarn, the remaining 729,007 maunds being described as "other merchandise" and including grain, hides and tobacco for which no detailed figures are available.

Page 59, line 35.

The road from Sarai Miran to Tirwa has however been metalled with a break at the Isan river where there will shortly be a bridge. The Court of Wards in 1913 gave Rs. 44,000 for this Isan bridge from the Tirwa estate. Government has promised to loan an equal sum to the district board and the building of the bridge will soon begin.

CHAPTER III.—THE PEOPLE.

Page 64.—PARA. "CENSUS OF 1901."

Add "In 1911, the population was 900,022—a decrease of 2·8 per cent. since 1901."

Tirwa tahsil lost 9·9 per cent. of its population during this decade, Aligarh lost 3·6 per cent., and the Sadr tahsil 2·9; but Kanauj gained 2 per cent. and Kaimganj ·3.

The density of the population per square mile was 535. Of the six tahsils the most populous was Farrukhabad with a density of 721 to the square mile, Kanauj coming next with 647, and then Chhibramau with 527, while Kaimganj had 463, Aligarh 457, and Tirwa 427.

Page 66.—PARA. "SEX."

Of the total population 494,017 were males, and 406,005 females, the latter bearing to the former the proportion of 822 to 1,000. Excluding Dehra Dun and Naini Tal, where the conditions are peculiar, there are only three districts in these provinces where the proportion of females is smaller. In the provinces as a whole the proportion is 915 to 1,000 and in some of the eastern districts females preponderate.

Page 66.—PARA. "RELIGIONS."

788,623 persons or 87·62 per cent. of the total population of Farrukhabad district are Hindus.

Of the remainder 104·293 or 11·58 per cent. were Musalmans, 4,016 belonged to the Arya Samaj, 2,548 were Christians, 500 Jains, 35 Sikhs, and 7 Buddhists.

Those exceeding 10,000 in number are the Dhanuks (18,678), Koris(17,840), Nais (16,267), Telis (16,028), Dhobis(14,390), Lohars (12,150), Bharbhunjas (11,071) and Kayasths (10,817). Next in order come the Barhais, Kumhars, Bhangis, Sonars, Behelias, Malis, Luniyas and Nats, all of whom exceed 2,000 in number. In the 1901 census Khatiks, Darzis, Faqirs, Chhipis, Patwas, Joshis, Bhats, Beldars, Kalwars and Tamolis all exceeded 2,000 in number. In 1911 there were no Beldars and no Joshis 20, Chhipis, 224 Faqirs and 414 Patwas : the other castes were between 1,500 and 2,000. The impossible variation in these five castes shows the fallibility of census returns. The Sadhs who exceeded 2,000 in 1901, were not enumerated separately in 1911, but included amongst the 3,457 persons of “Minor castes”.

The so-called Kanauj dispensary at Sarai Miran is being removed to Kanauj. A female dispensary has been built at Shamsabad, almost entirely by the generosity of the local Nawab, who gave Rs. 27,000 for that end. A dispensary will soon be opened, probably at Rajepur near Aligarh, but its exact locality depends upon the project of moving the tahsili buildings from Aligarh and this matter is still under discussion. In 1912 the district board decided to build a new dispensary at Farrukhabad. The veterinary dispensary in Farrukhabad will shortly be moved to a site adjoining the distillery where the new building is about to be erected.

District Gazetteers of the United Provinces
of Agra and Oudh.

ALLAHABAD :

Printed by the Superintendent, Government Press, United Provinces, 1917.

Additions and alterations to Volume A of the Etawah District Gazetteer.

NOTE.—The pages referred to are those of the Edition of 1911.

"For 2,000 read 3,000."

Page 16 to 1 paragraph.

Add, "In 1913 the Fisher Forest lease was transferred to the Forest department and two years later the Etawah Forest division came into being. The assumption of control in the Fisher Forest formed part of a large scheme of ravine afforestation and reclamation with the object of rendering the ravine area productive, increasing the fuel and fodder-supply and ultimately meeting the growing scarcity of cattle. Recourse was had to section 38 of the Forest Act and in the first instance landholders applied for management of some 27,000 acres. The scheme is as yet in its infancy, but the prospects are promising."

Page 22, para. 2.

Page 30, para. 1.

Add, "A great stimulus has been given to agriculture by the establishment of a demonstration farm at Etawah in 1913. A considerable area of the old cantonment land was handed over to the Agricultural department and is utilised principally for the encouragement of improved wheat and Cawnpore-American cotton. The operations of the department extend over the whole district and the farm has been imitated by several landholders who take a personal interest in cultivation."

Page 48, after para. 2.

Insert, "The famine of 1913-14 was confined to the trans-Jumna country, the ghar tract along the north bank of the river, the neighbourhood of the Sengar, and the triangle between the Sirsa and the Sengar rivers. The striking feature of this famine was the scarcity of fodder, to meet which enormous quantities of bhusa were imported from the west, while 124,083 maunds of hay from the Government forests were sold at a low rate. Gratuitous relief started in January, 1914 and in the following month civil relief works were opened in the trans-Jumna country, the number being increased as the need arose. The rabi harvest was a complete failure and the famine reached its maximum intensity in June. The greatest number on works, including dependants, was 12,009 and on gratuitous relief 7,219. Poor-houses were maintained at Etawah and Auraiya till the close of the famine at the end of August. Owing to the system adopted the people remained in their homes, there was no emigration and a full kharif was sown when the monsoon of 1914 arrived. Famine labour was utilised for afforestation work at Chakarnagar, Sahson, and in parts of the Bhareh estate."

Page 53, para. 2 for lines 3 to 9 :

Substitute, "The manufacture of brass candlesticks and other articles at Jaswantnagar has died out altogether."

Page 54, para. 2, after line 6

Add, "Now known as West's Patent Press Company, Limited."

For "Bharthna read Jaswantnagar."

Page 55, lines 12 and 13.

Omit "Jaswantnagar, Aheripur and Usrahar and add "Bharthna."

Page 55, para. 2, line 9.

Add "The chief fair in the district is that at Etawah in connection with the annual exhibition and agricultural show in November. This was in existence many years ago, but died out about 1886, and was not revived till 1910. The fair has attained a position of importance."

Page 56, for lines 2 to 11.

Substitute, "Of the metalled roads that from Etawah to Farrukhabad is one of the most important and carries a heavy traffic at all seasons. A large volume of trade passes along the old Mughal road from Agra to Etawah, Auraiya and Kalpi. This has been provincialised and before long will be metalled throughout. The railway feeder from Auraiya to Dibiapur is extensively used, and brings to the Phaphund station on the East India Railway a large volume of trade from Auraiya and the Jalaun district."

Add, "As well as by the institution of export dues on certain goods coming from Gwalior into British territory."

Add, "From Dibiapur to Auraiya and Shergarh-ghât; from Jaswantnagar to Kachaura-ghât; and from Bharthua to Bakewar and Lakhna, this last being constructed in 1912-13."

Page 57, para. 2, line 32.

For "Sandaus" read "Bharthua."

Add, "A new provincial inspection-house has been built at Ajitmal. There is a district board bungalow at Chakarnagar."

Page 69 para 2, line 17.

Add "Rao 'Karan Singh Bahadur."

Page 79 add after para. 1.

"The Raja came of age in 1914 and in the following year the debt was finally extinguished, while the estate has been increased materially by the succession to the Chakarnagar property."

Page 80, para. 1, line 16.

Add "The widow of Zabar Singh died in May, 1912, and the bulk of the estate devolved on the Raja of Partabner, five villages going on the basis of a compromise to the sister of Zabar Singh and her grandson, Ram Singh a Rahtor of a Rajputana family. Raja Kehri Singh died in 1911, left a minor adopted son Niranjan Singh. In 1915 almost the whole of the alienated property was re-purchased on favourable terms from the Maharaja of Benares. There is in consequence a heavy burden of debt, but the prospects of repayment are favourable."

Add "Raja Rup Sah was succeeded in 1911 by his son Raja Lokendra Sah."

Page 83 to para. 1.

Add "Thakurain Jas Kunwar died in 1911 and has been succeeded by Lal Digbijai Sing, so that much of the ancestral property has reverted to the direct line."

Page 83, para. 2, line 2.

Add "Rao Himanchal Singh died in 1914 and his adopted son, Karan Singh, holds the title. He is being educated at the Government High School."

Add "Lala Raghubans Rao died in 1911 and his widow is the recorded owner of estate made over to him by Rani Kishori."

Page 85, add to para. 1.

"The hereditary title of Rao was recognised formally in 1915 Rao Narsingh Rao was released from the Court of Wards in 1916 and the debt is now relatively small."

For "Bhutele" read "Bhatele."

Page 86, line 25.

For "Lala Brij Kishore" read "Lala Kunj Kishore, son of the late Lala Brij Kishore."

Page 86, add to para. 1.

"Tiwari Kali Shankar died in 1912 and has been succeeded by his son, Tiwari Ram Ghulam.

"Pathak Sheo Sahni was awarded the title of Rai Bahadur in 1914."

Page 93, para. 1, add to line 2.

"From the 1st November, 1911, the district was transferred from the Agra to the Allahabad division.

Add "Other honorary magistrates are Chaudhri Ram Narayan of Burhadana, Bhatele Sham Bihari Lal of Birari, Tiwari Hardeo Singh of Bhainsaul, Tiwari Ram Ghulam of Kudarkot, and Thakur Balwant Singh of Banthra; all having third class powers."

For "Sanrikh" read "Saurikh."

Page 109, add a new paragraph after para. 2.

Settlement of 1911—14.

"The district came under settlement in 1911, Mr. E. S. Liddiard being appointed settlement officer. The settlement was preceded by a revision of records and this was based on the existing village maps corrected and brought up to date by the patwaris."

incomplete professional survey begun in 1900 was utilised in the Auraiya tahsil to some extent, but elsewhere, save in part of Bidhuna, the material available was unfortunately too scanty to prove of any use. The results were in consequence uneven and it is to be regretted that considerations of time and expense necessitated the loss of a much needed opportunity. The formation of circles and the classification of soils generally followed the lines laid down in the previous settlement. Circle rates were based in the main on those ascertained to be paid by occupancy tenants of at least twenty years' standing. These at any rate, gave a safe figure, for the competition rental was materially higher. The attested area was 588,214 acres, and this was reduced by the exclusion of 1,022 acres of old fallow in assumption areas in the trans-Jumna tract; though the balance was restored by the addition of 1,016 acres recently excluded from holdings. The record showed that cash rents had risen all round to a marked extent since the preceding settlement, but none the less the recorded rental was far short of that obtained by the application of the lenient circle rates. The fact had long been notorious that the occupancy tenants, who held two-thirds of the total area, were paying far less than a reasonable share of the produce and though the recorded rental of tenants-at-will was carefully pruned, the accepted assets gave an all-round incidence of Rs 5.71 as against a recorded incidence of Rs. 4.76 per acre. Deductions were freely made for improvements and for cultivation by landholders, the net assets being Rs. 33,16,596. The revenue demand was fixed at Rs. 15,98,264, representing an enhancement of 19.24 per cent.; but this figure included the whole of the amount previously realised under a separate head as owner's rate. The latter has now disappeared, save in the case of revenue-free estates. Though the revenue amounted to no more than 48.19 per cent., of the assets, it was necessarily more than half of the rental in the case of occupancy tenants and the settlement courts had to deal with a heavy volume of litigation in the shape of suits for enhancement. Another feature was the number of suits for the resumption of rent-free holdings amounting to 3,924 in all, and this large total was due to the expiry of the term of twelve years after the introduction of the Agra Tenancy Act.

"The settlement was sanctioned for a period of 29½ years in the Etawah, Bharthua, and Biduna tahsils and for 23½ years in Auraiya, so as to expire on the 30th June, 1944. The new demand was graduated in the case of sudden enhancements, but from the first it has been collected with ease and smoothness."

"The police stations at Usrahur, Airwa, Kudarkot, and Sahail were restored in 1913 and a new station was established at Ekdil."

"The town police were abolished in 1913 and their place taken by men of the provincial force."

Page 114, add to paragraph 1

"The contract system came into force throughout the district in April, 1916, and bonded warehouses were established at Etawah and Auraiya."

"The drainage scheme contemplates a total expenditure of Rs. 3,65,000, but its execution has been deferred owing to the absence of any adequate supply of water for flushing."

Page 122, paragraph 2, line 9.

For "present" read "late."

Page 122, paragraph 2, line 18

Add "The Sanatan Dharma High School was founded in 1913 by the Hindu Educational Society in order to meet the growing demand for English education. The new venture has achieved a considerable measure of success."

Add "the present owner is the Raja of Partabnagar."

Page 199, paragraph 1, line 11.

Add "The fort mound is now a protected monument, under the control of the Collector."

"The police station was restored in 1913."

For "s" read "si".

Page 224, add to line 1

"There is now a police station at Sahail, it having been re-established in 1913."

"The retention of the Usrahar police station rendered this project unnecessary."

Page 228, paragraph 2, add to line 4.

"The police station was re-established in 1913."

VOLUME XIX

OF THE

District Gazetteers of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh

ALLAHABAD :

Printed by the Superintendent, Government Press, United Provinces.

1916.

Alterations and Additions to Part A of the Cawnpore District Gazetteer, bringing it up to date (1912).

NOTE.—The redistribution consequent on the abolition of the tahsils of Sheorajpur and Narwal in November, 1911, has given rise to a great many changes. It has not been found desirable or possible to reproduce in the present volume the full effect of these changes. To do so would have necessitated the re-writing of large portions of the original gazetteer. As a result of the redistribution Akbarpur received 91 villages from Sheorajpur; and one from Cawnpore; Bilhaur 257 from Sheorajpur; Deraipur 57 from Bilhaur; Ghatampur 72 from Narwal, and Cawnpore 122 from Narwal.

Page 19.—CATTLE.

(1) Census.—The census of 1909 showed a decrease in all kinds of cattle except cow-buffaloes. There were then 175,978 bulls and bullocks, 134,296 cows, 37,490 buffaloes, 99,635 cow-buffaloes, and 237,364 young stock. The total number of horses and ponies fell to 15,859 of which only 973 belonged to the former category. Of other stock, only sheep increased (41,058); goats fell to 237,703, and donkeys remained about stationary.

Subject and References.
(1) Census.

(2) Disease has been very prevalent during the last five years, especially in 1908-9, when there were 2,454 reported cases and 1,543 deaths as against 88 cases and 36 deaths the previous year. Most of the mortality in that year was due to rinderpest, which accounted for 1,049 deaths. Inoculation against rinderpest and haemorrhagic septicaemia is carried on by the District Board Veterinary Assistants, especially at the cattle-fairs, but the figures remain very low.

(2) Dis-

The buildings for the College and Laboratories begun in 1909 were completed and occupied at the end of 1910. The main building is a handsome example of the Indo-Saracenic type and cost over 4 lakhs to construct. Boarding houses for the students, dining halls and library cost another Rs. 68,000. Under the present scheme the College offers two courses of instruction, a vernacular course of two years in practical agriculture or a diploma course of four years of approximately university standard. The training of candidates for employment as qanungos has been discontinued.

The agricultural station now includes besides the old experimental farm a large farm of 140 acres at Kalianpur.

Progress has been made with the construction of minors in the Fatehpur, Bhognipur and Etawah divisions.

The practice of sowing certain kharif crops early with the aid of canal irrigation has made substantial progress though less than in the central and upper doab; about one-sixth of the area under maize, cotton and fodder is now sown in this way, while 12 years ago the practice was almost unknown.

Wells.—Construction of masonry wells has proceeded actively during the last five years, the net number having increased by 1,300. In 1911 there was one such well to 65 acres of normal cultivation, as against 71 acres in 1906.

Page 68.—FAMINES. 1907-8.

In 1907 the rains were very late, and the fall in September was altogether inadequate. The kharif suffered seriously and the rabi of 1908 was sown on a much restricted area; the winter rains were, however, sufficient and the yield was fair. Test works were opened during the spring, and direct relief measures were limited to a small amount of gratuitous relief, which was discontinued in August. The following indirect measures were taken:—

Page 70.—PRICE.

During the five years ending 30th September, 1911, a further rise in prices has taken place, the averages being 10·36 seers of wheat, 14·85 of gram, 16·85 of barley, 17·02 of jwar and 15·39 of bajra. This is partly accounted for by the bad monsoon of 1907, which was followed by a shortage in the 1908 rains also. Prices reached their highest point in January 1908, since when they have been slowly but surely falling to their level.

Besides these a large number of Marwari bankers and traders have their headquarters or branches at Cawnpore. That of Baijnath Ramnath is now divided into two, known as Baijnath Juggi Lal, represented by Lala Juggi Lal, and Baldeo Das Kedar Nath managed by Lala Mulchand. Both reside in Chatai Mahal and trade in money, cotton, piece goods, grain, flour and other articles. Baijnath Juggi Lal also own a ginning press and sugar refinery at Cawnpore, and Mulchand manages the Ganges Flour Mills and owns a ginning press, an oil press and a sugar refinery near Unao. They originally came from Farrukhabad about 75 years ago. In the same muhalla is the firm of Bihari Lal Kunji Lal whose head office is at Mirzapur. In Kahu Kothi are the bankers Tejpal Jamna Das, whose headquarters also are at Mirzapur: in Cawnpore they own considerable house property and do an extensive business in banking, grain, cotton, etc. Others in Kahu Kothi are Sheoratan Das Moti Lal, Ram Narain Kishan Dayal, Harsahai Mal Janki Das, Hari Singh Santokh Chand and Sheodat Rai Banarsi Das all wholesale cloth merchants. In Nayaganj are Hulasi Ram Ram Dayal, Tulsi Ram Jia Lal and Nihal Chand Baldeo Sahai, bankers and traders, and also Jagannath Manni Lal, bankers and wholesale dealers in spices. Mangni Ram Janki Das, dealers in cotton and grain, and Harnand Rai Arjun Das dealing in gunny. In Collector-ganj are the firms of Radha Kishan Mangal Rai, trading in grain and salt and agents for kerosine oil, Sheomukh Rai Ram Kumar dealing in cotton and grain, and Sheo Bakhsh Sri Narayan, bankers and cloth merchants. Others again have settled in Generalganj of whom may be mentioned Gauri Dat Ganpat Rai, dealing in cloth and yarn and owning a sugar refinery at Gutaiya, Hazari Mal Tulsi Ram, dealing in cloth and yarn and owning ginning press and oil press, Ramkaran Das Rambilas, trading in sugar, piece goods and spices, Ganga Dhar Baij Nath, dealing in piece goods and yarn, Dwarka Das Shozji, bankers and importers of piece goods. At Cooperganj is the firm of Bilas Rai Hardat Rai, which deals in cotton and oil and owns a ginning factory and oil press. Here also the firms of Ram Dayal Madho Prasad, grain dealers of Allahabad, and Mavji Bhinji, cotton merchants of Bombay, have established branches. Besides these mention should be made of the Government Treasurer, Rai Kanhaiya Lal Bahadur and his cousin Rai Bishambhar Nath Bahadur, who have a very flourishing banking business and own a ginning factory.

Pages 77—84.—INDUSTRY OF CAWNPORE.

Since 1907 the Elgin Mills and Messrs. Cooper Allen & Co. have both been converted into limited companies. Messrs. Baij Nath Juggi Lal have opened large sugar mills near the Anwarganj railway station. Messrs. Louis Dreyfus & Co. have opened an agency at Cawnpore.

Page 87.—RAILWAYS.

In August 1910, a new iron girder bridge over the Ganges at Cawnpore was opened to traffic. This carries at present a single line but the piers have been built with a view to the future addition of a second track. The cost of the bridge was Rs. 10,12,123. It has 25 spans of 100 ft. and one span of 40 ft.

The construction of the Cawnpore-Banda Line has been undertaken by the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway.

From causes, the chief being plague, which operated in other districts of the provinces, a serious decline in population was shown by the census of 1911. The total figures fell from 1,258,868 to 1,142,286, thus more than cancelling the gradual increase of the preceding 30 years.

Owing to evacuation on account of plague at the time of the synchronous census a second census of the city was taken later on in the year. According to this the total population fell during the decennium from 202,797 to 195,498. It is a remarkable fact that while the number of females decreased by 8,000 that of the males actually increased by 700, the reason being, of course, that the losses among males by plague were more than made up for by immigration. The proportion of citizens born in the city is 583 per mille; 272 are from adjacent districts and 145 from more distant parts.

There appears to be nothing noteworthy in other figures of the new census. There is a proportionate decline in the numbers both of Hindus and of Musalmans. The Christian population has risen from 4,414 to 5,224, while Anglo-Indians have doubled their numbers (593 against 295 in 1901) and Indians have increased from 1,456 to 2,167, the number of Europeans remains constant. Among the latter it is curious that males predominate to the extent of 1,411 to 356 females.

The increase in the Indian Christian population has of course been to some extent natural. If this be allowed for the additions by conversion have not been very numerous. The conclusion would seem to be that the movement in favour of Christianity, which the census report of 1911 notes as advancing from the west of the provinces, has not yet reached Cawnpore.

During the period 1907-11 the S. P. G. Mission founded an additional hostel for Christ Church College and erected at Ghatampur a set of buildings for their headquarters for village work and for a training school for Indians. The Methodist Mission developed their Industrial School.

Page 124.—ARYA SAMAJ.

The number of members of the Cawnpore Arya Samaj continues to increase. Two new lodges have been opened in the district. The night school opened in 1907 has been converted into a day school (1910).

Page 127.—NEWSPAPERS.

Only one new (Vernacular) newspaper came into existence during this period, the 'Jiwan' a weekly issue in Hindi. The 'Cawnpore Local News' changed its name to 'The Provincial Times'. A new publication of purely local interest 'The Commercial Guide' was published at the end of 1911, subsequently to change its name to 'The Herald of India.'

Page 171.—EXCISE.

The contract supply system was introduced into the district at the beginning of 1910. The Government Distillery was closed. The contract was given to the Cawnpore Sugar works. Bonded warehouses were established at Bilhaur, Ghatampur and Derapur, and the excise staff was largely increased.

These measures were immediately followed by a marked decrease in consumption. This may be attributed partly to dislike of the new liquor but also to industrial depression in 1908-9 accompanied by high prices. With the advent of more prosperous times and as the people have become accustomed to the taste of the new liquor the consumption has reached again the average level of the ten years preceding the change. Still-head duty and licence fees have both increased to a remarkable degree.

Page 173.—REGISTRATION.

With the abolition of the Sheorajpur and Narwal tahsils the Sub-Registrar's offices were also closed. The business done at the three contiguous circles of Derapur, Bhognipur and Akbarpur did not warrant the upkeep of three offices. The two former were therefore closed in 1911.

Page 179.—MUNICIPALITY.

The feature of the period has been the large expenditure on improvements, funds for which have mostly been obtained by borrowing.

A loan of 6½ lakhs has been taken for water works extension and improvement (1911).

An Improvement Trust has been inaugurated with a grant of 2½ lakhs from Government and a loan of similar amount. The first scheme undertaken by the Trust is the opening up of a new road from Mouleganj to the Dufferin Hospital, thus linking up the Mall with the LaTouche Road and completing a main artery right through the city.

Sources of municipal income have been increased by a revision of the schedules for Terminal Tax and Toll and by the imposition of a scavenging tax in Civil Lines.

Sanitation will benefit by the appointment of a qualified Health Officer.

Great progress has been made in the lighting of the city by electricity.

Page 184.—DISPENSARIES.

Though the number of dispensaries has not been increased the attendance has more than doubled in the last five years (1907-12).

Private munificence has added to the Prince of Wales Hospital a new operating theatre and an X-ray installation.

Page 184.—EDUCATION.

The figures in table XVIII need explanation and comment only as to the sudden increase in scholars and secondary schools in 1911-12. This is due to the inclusion of figures of Anglo-Vernacular Schools, not previously incorporated.

Apart from this enhancement there is traceable a steady rise which is attributable only to an ever-spreading desire for education among all classes.

Page 274.—CAWNPORE DIRECTORY.

Mention has been made in the note under 'Census' of variation in the city population between 1901 and 1911. In the note under 'Municipality' reference is made to projects for improvement.

Two large buildings have been erected on the Mall during this period, a Telegraph office at a cost of Rs. 66,000 and a Currency office at a cost of 3½ lakhs. Neither of these can as artistic creations vie with the new Agricultural College building at Nawabganj.

District Gazetteer of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, vol. XX, Fatehpur.

CHAPTER I.

GENERAL FEATURE.

Page 1.

In line 4 after the word "Allahabad" delete the remaining words in the sentence e.g. "the three 1892."

In line 10 add "and" after "Unao."

In line 11 delete "and Partabgarh."

In line 13 read "1,050,031" for "1,050,225" and "1640" for "1640.97" and delete the words "with the exception of Jalaun" in the same sentence.

PARAGRAPH TOPOGRAPHY.

Delete the sentence commencing with the word "Along" in line 5 and substitute the following :—

"The beds of the Ganges and the Jamna differ largely in their physical characteristics. That of the former is from 3 to 5 miles in width, and contains large areas of cultivation as well as good grazing grounds and tracts of sarpat. That of the latter is generally little over a mile in width, and the cultivated area is ordinarily a narrow strip close to the cliffs, while the remainder of the land is barren sand. The main stream of the Jamna changes its course seldom, that of the Ganges more often, and the latter river has many secondary streams called sotas, which change their beds frequently."

In line 7 delete the words "Above the high bank" and substitute "Between the cliffs."

Page 2.

In line 13 read "bear" for "bears" and "to" after "relation."

PARAGRAPH GANGES RIVER.

In line 17 add "generally" after "ground."

In line 21 after the word "unirrigated" add the following :—

"The most inferior tracts being in pargana Bindki and the Eastern portion of pargana Fatehpur."

In the last line delete "wild."

Page 3.

In line 1 delete "cattle" and "deer."

In line 7 after the word "surface" add the following:—

"The sandy bottom found in the level land produces excellent crops when sufficient rainfall is received."

In lines 9 and 10 for the words "was in former days" substitute "is."

Page 4.

In line 13 read "extent" for "extend."

PARAGRAPH NUN NADI.

In line 12 substitute "fair" for "excellent."

Page 5.

In line 19 add "in pools" after "water."

In lines 23 and 24 delete the words "It is proposed to build" and substitute capital "A" for small "a" before "second."

In line 25 substitute "would" for "and this will."

In line 27 delete "Argal."

In line 8 from the bottom of the page add, "others are found" before the words "at Thithaura."

Page 14.

In line 11 from the bottom of the page substitute "the Kora pargana" for "pargana of Korn."

In line 13 after the word "lime" add the following sentence:—

"It should be noted that the cultivators call light loam by the names of signon and heavy loam by the name of matiyar, while clay is almost universally called chanchar."

Page 16.

In line 6 delete the words "termed locally tarai and kachhar."

In line 18 at the end of the paragraph after the word "account" add the following:—

"These figures are taken from Mr. Patterson's Settlement report. At the recent settlement the classification was not based on natural soils."

PARAGRAPH WASTE LANDS.

Substitute "the last settlement" for "1905" in the first line, and "251,673" for "266,180" and "23.97" for "25.33" in the second line.

In the fifth line substitute "13" for "19" and in the seventh line substitute "7.81" for "9.16."

In line 9 delete "last" before "settlement" and add "of 1870" after it and substitute "27.65" for "27.5."

In line 14 read "bichhua" for "bichhia."

In line 15 substitute "is" for "varies from Re. 1 to."

In line 16 delete "eight annas per mile" and substitute "twelve annas for the first mile and eight annas for succeeding miles."

In line 7 from the bottom after the words "cubic feet" add "the cost at the quarry being Rs. 3 per hundred cubic feet."

In line 6 from the bottom substitute "Rs. 25" for "from Rs. 12 to Rs. 16."

In the third line after "tanks" add the following:—

"The price of bricks and lime has gone up tremendously in the last decade, from 75 per cent. to 125 per cent."

In line 4 substitute " $9\frac{1}{2} \times 4\frac{1}{2}$ " for " $9 \times 4\frac{3}{4}$."

In line 5 substitute " $8 \times 4 \times 1\frac{1}{2}$ " for " $9 \times 6 \times 1\frac{1}{2}$ " and in the same line and line 6 substitute "an average of Rs. 700 and Rs. 500" for "Rs. 300 and Rs. 225."

In line 7 substitute "160" for "75."

In line 11 substitute "Re. 1-9-0" for "from Re. 1 to Re. 1-8-0."

In line 19 after the word "fuel" add the following sentence:—

"There are only four permanent brick-kilns in the district, three at Fatehpur, and one at Bindki."

In line 14 from bottom delete "from Rs. 14 to Rs. 15-8-0."

In line 13 from bottom substitute the following, for "set in mud":—

"If set in clay, Rs. 17 per hundred cubic feet for first class bricks, Rs. 15 for second class and Rs. 12 for third class, if set in lime, Rs. 24, Rs. 21-8-0 and Rs. 18 respectively."

Page 19.

In the third line add "salwood costing Rs. 4-4-0" after "foot" in continuation changing "full-stop" into "comma."

PARAGRAPH JUNGLE.

In the sixth line from bottom substitute "little" for "nothing" and in the second line from bottom add "and jhao" after "grasses."

Page 20.—PARAGRAPH GROVES.

In the first sentence after "is" delete the remaining words in the sentence and substitute "2.15 per cent. of the whole."

In line 11 after "bhur" add the following:—

"The grove area has been reduced largely by stricter classification, 9 good sized trees being considered to constitute grove."

Delete the sentence "at the time of the last trees" beginning in the second line from bottom and ending in the second line in page 21.

Page 21.

In the second line add "for mahuas" after "pay" and in the third line add "generally annas two for each tree" after "peri."

In the seventh line after "trees" substitute "of" for "for."

PARAGRAPH FAUNA.

Add a "comma" after "offenders" in line 10 and delete the whole of line 11 and the word "and" in line 12.

In line 16 after "1903" add the following:—

"The number killed by wolves has greatly decreased, there being only one in 1914, but there are still a number of wolves and hyaenas to be found. Rewards were paid in 1914 for killing 4 leopards and 21 wolves, 13 of the latter being cubs. The frequency with which the kunchbandbia shikaries bring in wolf cubs leads to a suspicion of their being reared, so the payment of rewards for them is now stopped. One hundred and seventeen deaths from snakes were reported in the same year."

In the third line substitute "are fairly numerous" for "abound" and in the fourth line "are found" for "swarm."

In the fifth and sixth lines substitute "comb-duck, spot-bill" "brown goose."

Delete the last sentence, e.g. "There has prevails" and substitute the following :—

"The usual Brahmani bull system prevails, and even this is in parts, as round Fatehpur, is largely decreasing. One District Board bull is kept by Rai Bahadur Ishwar Sahai at Bilanda, but with this exception there has been no attempt made at any time to improve the local breed of cattle by selection."

Page 24.

In line 19 after "average" add the following :—

"The next census of 1909 revealed a drop in all classes, with exception of cow-buffaloes and young stock, while the following census, in 1915, gave 130,089 bulls and bullocks, 86,394 cows, 35,841 male buffaloes, 62,245 cow buffaloes, and 142,286 young stock. There are therefore fewer animals of all classes in the district now than there were in 1899, and no doubt the famine of 1908 and the scarcity of 1914 killed off a good deal of useless stock. The average number of plough cattle per plough is 2.17."

PARAGRAPH SHEEP AND GOATS.

In the fifth line after "Mirzapur" add the following :—

"Sheep increased by 1909 to 100,270, but again dropped in 1915 to 91,254, while goats on the other hand dropped in 1909 to 169,554, but rose by 1915 to 206,703."

Page 25.

In the second line after "Rs. 5" change "full-stop" into "comma" and add the words "but they are most valued for their skins."

PARAGRAPH OTHER ANIMALS.

In the second line after "which" delete "numbered 12,930" and substitute "are decreasing and numbered 10,430."

In the seventh line substitute "104" for "53" and "4,130" for "4,398" and in the eighth line substitute "344" for "236."

In line 13 substitute "15,000" for "14,000."

At the end of paragraph under cattle disease after "preventive measures" add the following :—

"As soon as the veterinary department is able to supply the men, there will be four such assistants."

Page 26.—PARAGRAPH RAINFALL.

Substitute the following for the first sentence :—

"Observations extending over the period between the last two settlements give an annual average rainfall for the district of 34 inches."

In the third line substitute "head quarters and the outlying tahsils" for "each tahsil."

Delete the third sentence, e.g. "there is very little . . . district" and substitute "Khaga records the heaviest and Khajua the lightest."

Page 28.

In the seventh line after "prosperity" delete the remaining words in the sentence, and substitute the following :—

"But owing to plague and continued migration population has decreased steadily."

PARAGRAPH VITAL STATISTICS.

In the last sentence delete the words "the obvious conclusion . . . same time" and substitute the following :—

"In the three following years the recorded death rate is high and also the recorded birth rate. The population at the census of 1911 was less by nearly 10,000 than in 1901. The conclusion must be that."

Page 29.—PARAGRAPH FEVER.

In the last sentence read "famines" for "famine" and add "and 1907-08" after "1897", and delete the remaining words in the sentence after "1897" and substitute the following :—

"From 1912 to 1914 the mortality has been remarkably low."

Page 31.

In line 14 after "1904" add the following :—

"Bindki and Khaga are still the chief sources of infection."

CHAPTER II.

AGRICULTURE AND COMMERCE.

Page 34.

After "total" in line 11 add the following :—

"In 1913 it had fallen to 495,996 acres."

PARAGRAPH CULTURABLE AREA.

In lines 7 and 8 delete the words "1905 to 213,204 acres . . . largely decreased" and substitute "1913 to 298,082 acres, or 28·4 per cent. of the total."

In line 9 change "full-stop" into "comma" after "acres" and substitute "but owing" for "owing."

Delete the remaining words in the sentence after "figures" in line 10.

Page 35.

In the last line read "soil" for "spoil."

Page 37.

In line 22 add "and poppy" after "wheat," and substitute "in less degree" for "possibly" in the same line.

Page 37.—PARAGRAPH HARVESTS.

In the third line from the bottom after "equal" delete the remaining words in the sentence and substitute the following:—

"Their percentages at settlement being 58·4 and 56·3 respectively, normal years being selected."

Delete the sentences beginning with the words "the double-cropped" in line 4 and ending with the words "per cent." in line 18 and substitute the following:—

"At settlement the double-cropped area was reckoned to amount to 14·98 per cent. of the whole cultivated area, and this represents a larger increase on the figure of 1170, when it was only 8·7 per cent. The highest proportion is to be found in the Haswa pargana, where it amounts to 23 per cent. while next comes Aya Sah with 22, and then Hathgaon and Dhata with 21 each. The lowest proportions are found in Kora (9), Bindki (8) and Muttaur (7·5). The figures are taken from the statistics of 1318 F. in the case of all tahsils except Khagu and of 1320 F. for the last named tahsil. Both these were normal years."

In line 27 read "birra or gram" for "the birra."

In the second line after "harvest" add "(at settlement the percentage was 41)."

Page 41.

Delete the words "it is probable been poor" in lines 5, 6, and 7.

Page 42.

In line 12 substitute "more than" for "nearly."

In line 13 read "23" for "15."

In line 17 from the bottom substitute "19" for "an average of 13."

In line 9 from the bottom delete the remaining words in the sentence after the word "degree."

Page 43.

In the second line after the word "tahsils" delete the remaining words in the sentence.

Delete the sentence beginning with the words "the only" in line 5 and ending with the word "crops" in line 9; and substitute the following :—

"The most notable change in the rabi staples since 1870 is the increase in the area sown with wheat, and particularly pure wheat."

Page 45.

In the second line after "district" add the following :—

"In 1913-14 however the supply of canal water was neatly adequate, though heavy demands were made on the canal."

PARAGRAPH SOURCES OF SUPPLY.

At the end of the paragraph add the following :—

"At the settlement it was reckoned that 48·4 per cent. of the total cultivated area was irrigable, the proportions being 51·1, 13·8 and 35·1 per cent. respectively."

Page 52.

In line 7 substitute "13,996 in 1914" for "13,819 in 1905."

In line 16 after "wells" add "of which 2,794 were returned in 1914."

Page 54.

At the end of paragraph ending with the word "jharna" add the following :—

"There has been general complaint in recent years that the water level has receded and the wells hold much less water than they used to do. This is due apparently to the short rainfall, and a rainy cycle would probably restore the old conditions."

Page 59.

After the paragraph "Famine of 1897" add the following paragraph heading it on the margin as "scarcity of 1907-08":—

"Towards the end of 1907, owing to the cessation of the rains, distress began to be felt one or two poor-houses and test works were opened, but attracted little labour, numbers having gone to the large public works in Banda, and the people of the Jamna tract preferring semi-starvation with the hope of getting on the gratuitous list. Scarcity was declared on the 9th January, 1908, for the whole district, though only the portion lying along the Jamna was seriously affected, and gratuitous relief began on the 16th February. By the 4th April there were 14,144 receiving this relief, though the number on test works never exceeded 1,289. When the rabi was harvested and the mahua in flower, test works were closed, being replaced by small civil works, distributed over the worst tract, and the gratuitous relief lists were rigorously cut down, till on the 16th May they showed only 2,696. This number remained steady till the rains broke, while those on village works also fluctuated in this period about the figure 2,000. Civil works were opened on the 21st April, poor-houses having been closed three weeks earlier. These were finally shut down on the 1st August, and the last valedictory doles given about the same time. The rains broke somewhat late, but were well established by the middle of July. Altogether Rs. 70,484 was given in gratuitous relief. Nine unaided works were conducted by various zamindars, and 46 aided, the latter costing the Government Rs. 13,059. The cost of the poor-houses was Rs. 1,320, including their construction, and the total expenditure on the scarcity operations, as returned in September 1908, was Rs. 1,07,511. Fodder was never in serious defect, save towards the Jamna in parts: Government hay to the extent of 2,048 maunds was brought in and either sold or given as a taqavi advance. Rs. 1,27,000 of revenue were remitted and Rs. 2,69,000 suspended and at the same time Rs. 1,04,000 were distributed as taqavi. The total amount subscribed to the charitable relief fund by the gentry of the district was Rs. 855, of which Rs. 100 came from Asothar."

SCARCITY OF 1914.

"In the beginning of 1914 a similar tract along the Jamna with an area of 382 sq. miles and a population of 113,912 began to feel distress, and a test work was opened on the 23rd February at Sarauli. It proved of little use and was closed three weeks later. Scarcity was declared on the 8th February, and one or two aided works were started, but by March the attendance fell off rapidly. The people took more kindly to the gratuitous relief, but by the 14th March there were only 1,182 persons being assisted. The rabi harvest took away all the labourers, and they stayed away to prepare sugarcane and zaid crops, being fortified by good harvests of mahua and mango. It is true there were loud cries for work, but few would move beyond their doors to get it. Seven or eight aided works were started in a chain along the bad tract, but up to the 30th May the number of labourers only exceeded 200 on three dates in June when some district board works were also in progress, they averaged 400, or 500, and once rose to 600, but the rain fell on the 1st July and by the 4th there were only 10 labourers left. Valedictory doles were given on the 24th August. About 1 lakh was distributed in taqavi, while revenue was remitted to the extent of Rs. 2,44,135 and suspended Rs. 2,53,117. The direct cost of the scarcity proceedings was Rs. 37,996, of which Rs. 31,726 went to gratuitous relief, Rs. 4,676 to aided works, and Rs. 1,294, to test works. The gentry of the district subscribed Rs. 1,464, and to this the Indian People's Famine Trust added Rs. 1,500."

Delete the sentence beginning with the word "from" in line 2 and ending with the word "settlement" in line 6 and substitute the following:—

"In the ten years preceding the recent settlement the average price of wheat was 11·6 seers to the rupee, that of barley 16·5 seers, and that of gram 16·3 seers, representing advances of 61·57 and 49 per cent. respectively, as compared with the prices ruling in the ten years preceding the settlement of 1870."

Page 64.

In line 17 read "zamindars" for "zamindar," and after "Gambri" add "Also Mathura Prasad, bania, of Husainganj and the Kurmis of Jairampur Gurgaula in pargana Ekdala."

Delete all the lines in the paragraph after "1901" in line 18, and substitute the following:—

"And these have now grown into 29 rural and 1 urban society working under a central bank at Fatehpur. They are all under the management of Rai Ishwar Sahai Bahadur. Six of them have their own schools, where the members' children are taught free in the afternoons. It is hoped to extend the number of banks in the near future."

Page 67.

In lines 19 and 20 delete the words "Bahrapur, the nearest station" and substitute "Bahrapur, the nearest station, now known as Rasulabad."

Page 71.

In line 3 read "west" for "east."

In line 15 substitute "Rasulabad" for "Bahrapur."

At the end of the paragraph under Railway add the following:—

"Two more stations are proposed, Katoghan, between Kanwar and Teni, and Aung between Bindki Road and Karbigwan."

Page 72.

In line 12 delete "annual" and substitute for "is Rs. 8,830, or Rs. 160 a mile" the following:—

CHAPTER III.

THE PEOPLE.

Page 79.—PARAGRAPH CENSUS OF 1901

In the first sentence delete the words "the last enumeration . . . March," and substitute "then followed the enumeration of."

At the end of the paragraph add the following paragraph heading it as "census of 1911":—

CENSUS OF 1911.

"The last census took place in 1911. Owing to Plague and Cholera, emigration and other causes the population dropped 1·4 per cent. to 676, 939."

PARAGRAPH DENSITY.

In the first line substitute "412·7" for "420·8,"

Page 80.

After the word "tracts" in line 5 delete all the remaining lines in the paragraph, and substitute the following:—

"Within the district, an analysis of the density per square mile of cultivation shows that the northern parganas are all more densely populated than the southern, though there is a tendency now a days to migrate from the former to the latter, owing to the advantages afforded by canal irrigation. The densest populations are found in Kutila, Fatehpur, and Hathgaon, and the least dense in Muttaur, Tappa Jar and Ekdala."

PARAGRAPH TOWNS AND VILLAGES.

In the first line substitute "1,367" for "1,408."

The increase in the rent-roll between the 1870 and 1913 settlements amounted to only about 11 per cent. and the increase in the cultivated area to about 5 per cent. Owing to the different qualities of the soil contained in each the average rent rates paid in the various parganas vary widely. The highest are found in parganas Bindki and Kutia Gunir, where were Rs. 5-7-8 and Rs. 5-8-0 respectively at the recent settlement. They exceeded Rs. 5, also in parganas Fatehpur, Haswa, Kutila and Hathgaon, but in the south the averages are lower, Ghazipur coming last with Rs. 3-10-5 and Ekdala next to it with Rs. 4-4-4. The variations in the rates paid for the different classes of land are illustrated by the circle rates fixed at the recent settlement. These range from Rs. 14-6-0 for the best irrigated home lands to Re. 1-4-0 for the most inferior land in the neighbourhood of the Jamna. The most usual rates for the best irrigated land outside the gauhan was Rs. 7 per acre and for similar land without means of irrigation Rs. 4-12-0. The difference between the rates paid by occupancy and non-occupancy tenants was most marked, the respective incidences being Rs. 4-7-8 and Rs. 5-8-8. In fixing rents the chief factors are the class of the cultivator and the natural advantages of the holding, but a good deal depends on the character of the proprietor. Natural advantages are greatest in the class of land near the towns and large villages on which garden crops are grown by Murais and Kachhis, who pay from Rs. 12-0-0 to Rs. 20-0-0 per acre. The recorded rents may be taken as genuine generally, as the collusion necessary for the recording of incorrect rents is impracticable, and proprietors would find it difficult to collect unrecorded rents. The district is one of independent tenants and indebted proprietors, though the condition of the latter has improved largely in recent years. Rents are paid in most cases in equal instalments after the rabi and kharif harvests, but in the rice villages it is customary to collect ten annas in the kharif and the remaining six annas in the rabi."

SETTLEMENT OF 1911.

"In October 1911 Mr. C. L. Alexander was appointed settlement officer, and continued to hold that post till March 1915, when the operations were virtually completed. Mr. H. Bomford worked as assistant settlement officer from October 1912, to August 1913, and inspected and assessed tahsil Ghazipur. Tahsil Fatehpur was inspected in the cold weather of 1911-12, tahsils Khajua and Ghazipur in that of 1912-13, and tahsil Khuga in that of 1913-14."

METHOD OF ASSESSMENT.

"The survey of the previous settlement was accepted as correct, and the existing maps were corrected, with a view to the proper record of new cultivation and subdivision of fields, by the patwaris—who were given special instruction in survey—under the supervision of the supervisor qanungos and assistants specially appointed to help the latter. In regard to soil classification the methods used differed from those employed by Mr. Patterson. In the first place, whereas in 1870 the irrigable areas had been demarcated by the settlement officer at inspection, in 1911 they were determined by recording as irrigable all fields which had been actually irrigated in one or more of four ordinary seasons immediately preceding the year of inspection, the record being based on the khasras and corrected, where necessary, during the course of inspection. It is worthy of note that, whereas in 1870 47·3 per cent. of the cultivated area was recorded as irrigable, in 1911 the area so recorded was only 48·4 per cent. in spite of the construction of a large number of new masonry wells and the introduction of the canal into the southern half of the district. In the second place the system of classification by natural soils was abandoned in favour of a system which took into consideration all the natural advantages of the land, e. g. position, soil and facilities for irrigation. Almost all the land was divided into gauhan manjha and har. There were four classes of gauhan, the first being virtually all home land in which garden crops were grown by high class cultivators, and the fourth being unirrigated home land. Manjha and har were each divided into two classes, and further subdivided into wet and dry by the methods already explained, but the wet area in har was almost negligible. In addition to the above main classes there were three classes of chauchar or poor rice land, and two of kachchar or fluvial deposit found generally in ravines, the methods used for differentiating between wet and dry land being inapplicable to these soils. In the alluvial tract the land was all marked as tarai and divided into four classes, the first being tarai gauhan; no distinction was made between wet and dry. The classification was more exhaustive than Mr. Patterson's, and there was a much larger difference between the rates applied to the best and worst lands. As rents still almost invariably were paid in the lump and covered fields of widely varying natural advantages, the settlement officer, like Mr. Patterson, had to analyse the rent and ascertain the proportionate value of each soil-class. He found it convenient to fix their values in terms of annas, this method being intelligible to the cultivators and proprietors, and he did this making manjha I wet equivalent to annas 12 and valuing the other classes with reference to this standard. Each pargana was divided during the course of inspection into circles, all save one being topographical, and circle rates were obtained by taking the average of the rates which the settlement officer considered, taking all things into account, to be appropriate to each individual village".

THE REVENUE.

"The gross assets amounted to Rs. 30, 57, 767 including Rs. 12,940 siwai income. From this Rs. 37,509 was deducted by way of allowances made to proprietors for land cultivated by themselves and Rs. 16,198 for improvements made by proprietors, leaving net assets of Rs. 30,04,060. This sum exceeds Mr. Patterson's assessed rental by 15·3 per cent. The share taken as revenue was Rs. 14,40,646, or 47·95 of the net assets, the general result being an increase of 10·3 per cent. This is still Rs. 3,838 short of the revenue which the Oudh Government was exacting at the time of cession, and Rs. 11,101 less than the revenue fixed in 1840. Special attention was devoted to abolishing the existing inequalities of assessment, and the results consequently varied widely in different parganas as well as in different villages. The largest increases took place in parganas Kntila (24·51 per cent.), Hathgaon (23·41 per cent.) and Dhata (19·03 per cent.), and the smallest in parganas Muttaur (5·27 per cent.), Kutia Gunir (5.55 per cent.), and Aya Sah (5.72 per cent.), while in pargana Bindki there was a decrease of 1.32 per cent. The average demand per acre of the cultivated area was Rs. 2-9-7 as compared with Rs. 2-7-6 of the previous settlement. The new assessments have been ordered to be in force for 30 years, but, as before, came into force on different dates in different parganas. In Fatehpur, Haswa, Kutia Gunir, Bindki and Tappa Jar they run from 1915, in Kora, Aya Sah, Muttaur and Ghazipur from 1916 and in Kutila, Hathgaon, Ekdala and Dhata from 1917. The settlement operations took place earlier than was necessary in view of the dates of the expiry of the previous assessments, the reason being that it was proposed originally to allow reductions of the revenue to take effect at once, but this proposal was subsequently disallowed by the local Government. The alluvial mahals were assessed with the rest of the district, but their assessments are liable to revision at the end of every five years. A feature in which the recent settlement differs remarkably from its predecessor is the large sums decreed in cases of enhancement of rent. In the previous settlement the rent-roll was increased in this way by only Rs. 6,000, but in the last settlement it was increased by Rs. 137,350. The revenue is payable in four instalments, those for the kharif harvest being due on the 5th of December, and the 1st of January, and those for the rabi on the 1st of May, and the 1st of June."

The last named irrigation is not of much value, as the tanks are all shallow. The canal has effected a very large improvement in irrigation facilities. The area recorded as grove amounted to 2·7 per cent. of the whole. Culturable waste accounted for 10·4 per cent. and fallow for 10·7 per cent. the latter figure being somewhat higher than usual owing to the character of the season. Small patches of dhak are to be found along the drainage lines, but there are practically no grass lands, the river beds being used for rice cultivation. The barren area amounts to only 12·5 per cent. of the whole, and this is the lowest figure in the district, owing mainly to the absence of any extensive usar plains and ravine land. In lines 7 and 8 delete the words "by 1904...cultivation" and substitute the following:—

"At the last settlement 18·5 per cent. of the cultivation (excluding the alluvial tract) was reckoned to be irrigable from the canal."

Delete the lines commencing with the word "At" in line 12 and ending with the word "average" in line 27 and substitute the following:—

"Between the settlements of 1870 and 1911 the cultivated area (excluding the alluvial tract) showed a decrease of nearly four per cent., the falling-off being confined however almost entirely to the villages bordered by the Ganges. The famines of 1897 had a marked effect on cultivation, but there has been some improvement since. In 1320 Fasli the cultivated area was 29,093 acres or 51·9 per cent. of the whole. The culturable waste amounts to 9·2 per cent., old fallow to 7·4 per cent., and grove to 2·2 per cent., while the barren land amounts to 13·2 per cent."

Paragraph 2.

Delete the whole of the paragraph ending in page 185 with the word "canal," and substitute the following:—

"At last settlement, the rabi crops occupied 53·69 per cent. of the cultivated area, and the kharif crops 54·31 per cent., the double-cropped area being only 8·17 per cent. The principal rabi crop is birra with 35·1 per cent., and wheat occupies only 12·86 per cent. In the kharif juar comes first with 30·52 per cent., and is followed by cotton with 8·31 per cent. and bajra with 4·14 per cent. The area sown with rice is only 4·03 per cent., that with sugarcane only 1·9 per cent. The crops sown in the alluvial tract are not included in these figures. There again birra is the principal crop, but there is a considerable area under wheat and a few fields of sugar-cane. The pargana was divided into two circles at the last settlement. Circle II comprises all the villages bordered by the Ganges and circle I the remainder."

In the third line from bottom substitute "tarai" for "kachhar."

Delete the sentence beginning with "on the whole" in the third line from bottom and ending with the word "tanks" in page 190 in line 4 and substitute the following :—

"Although the soil is on the light side it is of a good uniform quality and the proportion of bad soil is very small, Jamna ravines extending only a short distance inland. Before the introduction of the canal-irrigation was very difficult owing to the great depth of the wells; and the cultivators relied chiefly on shallow artificial tanks. The canal has effected a great improvement, and serves the pargana better than any other pargana in the district, effectually guarding it against drought, except for the villages bordering on the Jamna. The pargana was all included in one circle at settlement."

PARAGRAPH 2.

Delete the first two sentences and substitute the following:—

"At the time of the settlement of 1817 the cultivated area was 14,487 acres, and it has now increased to 15,029 acres, the highest figure recorded being 15,734 acres in 1885. The proportion of the total area under the plough is over 71 per cent., the highest figure in the district. Culturable waste accounts for 3·8 per cent., old fallow for 4·9 per cent., and grove for 1·8 per cent., the unculturable area being 15·6 per cent."

Delete the words "In 1905 Jamna tract" . . . beginning in line 9 and ending in line 15.

"And at last settlement 52·5 per cent. of the cultivation was recorded as irrigable, 44·5 per cent. being irrigable from the Canal and the rest nearly all from tanks and jhils."

Delete the remaining lines in the first paragraph after the first sentence and substitute the following:—

"At last settlement the rabi crops occupied 65·87 of the total cultivated area and the kharif crops 55·33 per cent. the double-cropped area being 21·34 per cent. The last is a high figure for the district, and shows a considerable increase as compared with the previous settlement. In the rabi birra is the principal crop with 21·19 per cent. but is followed closely by wheat with 17·06 per cent. and gram with 15·84 per cent., the last named being sown chiefly in succession to rice. Rice with 15·98 per cent. is the most important kharif crop. Juar comes next, with 13·91 per cent. and is followed by cotton with 13·70 per cent. There is virtually no sugarcane. Altogether the standard of cultivation as shown by the crops grown is high for the district, as might be expected with so many cultivators of good class."

Delete the words "The general rent-rate . . . average" from line 7 to line 13 and substitute the following:—

"The general rent-rate immediately before settlement was Rs. 4-10-8 while occupancy tenants paid only Rs. 4-5-1. The rates are high as compared with other Jamna parganas, but, as has been pointed out, the Jamna tract in this pargana is very small, and the rates paid were low in view of the excellent facilities for irrigation, the Kurmi landlords being very reluctant to raise the rents of the Kurmi tenants as is shown by the fact that only two castes pay lower average rents than the Kurmis. The revenue has been increased at the last settlement by 19.3 per cent., and the new revenue incidence per acre of cultivation is Rs. 2-10-3. The revenue demand at successive settlements will be found in the appendix."

"At the last settlement the pargana was divided into two circles, circle I being the tract north and circle II the tract south of the Bari Nadi. It bears a close resemblance to pargana Tappa Jar. The land included in circle I has great natural advantages, but that included in circle II is a very poor tract, though even here level areas of good loam are found, the absence of irrigation however, makes it very precarious. The canal has benefited circle I greatly, but has virtually not reached circle II at all. Between the settlements of 1870 and 1911 the cultivated area increased from 64,680 acres to 70,230 acres, the increase being confined almost entirely to circle II, an indication of its improved condition in spite of its disadvantages. 60.3 per cent. of the whole area is now under the plough. Of the remaining 1.3 per cent. was classed as grove, 4.9 per cent. as culturable waste, and 9.4 per cent. as old fallow, the barren area amounting to 20.9 per cent."

"At last settlement the area occupied by rabi crops was 57·38 per cent. of the whole, and by the kharif crops 55·43 per cent., the double-cropped area being only 12·95 per cent. of the whole pargana though it reached the high figure of 23·92 per cent. in circle I. Barley (pure and mixed) is the principal rabi crop, its percentage being 24·76, while gram occupies 15·02 per cent., and wheat (pure and mixed) 11·28 per cent. The chief products in the kharif are jwar (17·77 per cent.), cotton (11·83 per cent.), rice (11·68 per cent.), the last-named crop being confined to circle I, and bajra (9·68 per cent.). The area under sugarcane is negligible. The canal has effected a considerable improvement in the staples."

Substitute the following for the first paragraph, e.g. " The rabi 100...acres."

" Including the alluvial mahals, at last settlement rabi crops occupied 55·8 per cent. of the cultivated area, and kharif crops 58·9 per cent., the double-cropped area amounting to 15 per cent., a marked improvement on the figure of 1870. Barley (nearly always mixed with other crops) is the principal rabi crop, its percentage being 32·2; it is followed by wheat, with 13·9 per cent. and gram with 8 per cent.; juar (25·4 per cent.) is the most important kharif crop and rice (16·7 per cent.) comes next. The percentage of sugarcane is 1·5 only. In the alluvial tracts mixed barley is again the favourite crop, but much wheat also is grown and there are a few fields of sugarcane."

PARAGRAPH 2.

In the second line substitute " Ahirs, Kurmis " for " Kurmis, Ahirs."

In the fourth line substitute " 18·5 per cent." for " nearly one-fourth " and in the fifth line substitute "64" for "50.4."

In line 6 substitute "increased" for "greatly decreased."

In line 7 add " of 1870 " after "settlement" and substitute "12.7" for "15.9" and add the following after "khudkashi," changing "full-stop" into "comma" in line 8:—

"While non-occupancy tenants hold 15.3 per cent."

Delete the words "The holdings...unusual" beginning in line 8 and ending in line 15 and substitute the following:—

"The holdings are small, averaging no more than 3.6 acres, and the general rent-rate immediately before settlement was Rs. 5.8.0 for all tenants, and Rs. 5.4.0 for occupancy tenants. These are the highest in the district, the reasons being that the pargana contains a very small proportion of poor land and revenue has always been severely assessed."

In line 7 from bottom substitute "258" for "235" and "37" for "38."

In line 6, from bottom, substitute "82" for "54" and in the fifth line "7" for "11."

Delete the last sentence ending in page 265 with the word "inferior" and substitute the following:—

"At the last settlement the revenue was increased by 5.55 per cent., and the incidence per acre of cultivation is now Rs. 2.15.4. This is the highest in the district; but is closely approached by Fatehpur and Bindki."

Page 266.

In line 10 delete "lower" before "primary."

In the last sentence in the paragraph substitute "303" for "213" and "81" for "60:"

KUTILA PARGANA.

In line 6 substitute "28,299" for "27,667" and "44.2" for "43.2."

PARAGRAPH 2.

Delete the words "It ranks next to Hathgaon . . . irrigated" in lines 6 and 7 and substitute the following:—

"With pargana Kutia Gunir it ranks next to pargana Hathgaon in point of fertility."

In the eighth line delete the words "near the Gauges the" and substitute the following:—

"The alluvial tract contains no cultivation, as the Ganges runs under the cliff. Above the cliff the."

Page, 267.

Delete the remaining lines in the first paragraphs after "southern border" in the fifth line and substitute "The whole pargana was comprised in one circle at settlement."

PARAGRAPH 2.

In the first sentence substitute "1·7" for "five" and "loam" for "dumat."

Delete the words "25·7 per cent...quickly," beginning in the third line and ending in line 12 and substitute the following:—

"20·6 per cent., three-fifths of this being waste, and the rest under water. Culturable waste amounts to 5·6 per cent. and old fallow to 9 per cent. The cultivated area in 1870 was 14,042 acres, but in 1911 had increased to 15,851 acres or 60·8 per cent. The pargana recovered quickly from the affects of the drought of 1897."

Delete the words "In 1,905 . . . tanks." beginning in line 11, from the bottom and ending in line 4 and substitute the following:—

"In the matter of irrigation Kutila is second only to pargana Hathgaon, 61 per cent. of the cultivated area being recorded at settlement as irrigable, 56·1 per cent. being from wells."

In the fourth line, from bottom, substitute "nearly doubled in numbers between settlements" for "increased in numbers."

Substitute the following for the second paragraph, viz. "The rabi...1,000 acres":—

"At settlement rabi crops occupied 69·7 of the cultivated area, and kharif crops 47·3, the double-cropped area being 17·9 per cent., a very large improvement on the figure of 1870. Barley (nearly always mixed) with a percentage of 41·5 is by far the most popular rabi crop, and wheat comes next with 14·6 per cent. In the kharif jwar (15 per cent.) and bajra (11·5 per cent) are the most important crops, rice occupying only 5·7 per cent. and sugarcane 1·1 per cent.

Nearly 4 per cent is sown with poppy, this being a larger percentage than is found in any other pargana."

PARAGRAPH 3.

In the first sentence substitute "141" for "144" and "417" for "416."

In the second sentence substitute "84" for "122," "264" for "281," "61" for "56," and "eight" for "seven."

In line 6 after "Sheikhs" add "and are followed by Rajputs and Brahmans."

After "are" in line 7 delete the remaining words in the sentence and substitute "Musalmans, Ahirs, Rajputs, Brahmans, and Murais."

Delete the remaining words in the sentence after "is" in line 10 and substitute the following:—

"Only 14 per cent., but nowhere do Murais occupy such a prominent place."

In line 12 substitute "71.7" for "70.3."

In line 7, from bottom, substitute "12.4" for "17.7."

In line 6, from bottom, substitute "10" for "9.7" and in the fifth line substitute "3.8" for "1.4" and delete "very" before "small" in the same line.

In the fourth line, from bottom, substitute "immediately before settlement was Rs. 5-3-10" for "is 5-2-0"

In the third line, from bottom, substitute "5-0-2" for "somewhat more."

In the second line substitute "1870" for "settlement" and in the last line after "assessments" delete the words "as well as the demand in 1905."

Page 269.

Delete the last sentence to the first paragraph, e. g. "The incidence...assessment" and substitute the following:—

"At the last settlement the revenue was increased by 24.51 per cent., the largest increase in the district, but the present incidence per acre of cultivation, viz. Rs 2-11-6, is still lower than those of Hathgaon, Fatehpur, Bindki, and Kutia Gunir."

LALAUJI.

In the sixth line substitute "Bindki to Sheorajpur" for "Lalauli."

Page 270.

Delete the seventh line.

In the last sentence in the first paragraph, substitute "4,992" for "4,864" and "8,625" for "8,800."

MALWA.

Delete the third sentence and the word "lower" in the sixth line from bottom.

Page 271.

In the fourth line of the fifth paragraph substitute "1,714" for "1,707" and "2,795" for "2,720."

Page 272.

In the fourth line substitute "2,285" for "2,723" and in the sixth line substitute "2,280" for "2,130."

In line 7 substitute "a" for "an upper" and in line 8 add "a post office" after "school."

MAUCHAR.

In line 7 delete "lower."

In line 7, from bottom, substitute "Kalianpur" for "Aung."

In the last line substitute "4,931" for "5,317."

Page 273.

In line 9 substitute "1,298" for "1,268" and in line 10 substitute "1,995" for "1,718."

MUTTAUR PARGANA.

In the last line, in first paragraph, substitute "57,464" for "57,516" and "89.8" for "89.9."

Page 274.

In the third line after "pargana" add "but only a very small portion of this is subject now to fluvial action and consequently demarcated as alluvial."

Delete the remaining lines in the first paragraph after "watering" in line 12 and substitute the following:—

"The kachhar also, though it is no longer flooded by the river, is extremely fertile and retains water close to the surface all through the cold weather. Unfortunately however this soil is peculiarly liable to the ravages of kans, and this just appears to be spreading in it rapidly. The pargana was divided at the last settlement into two circles, circle II comprising the villages adjacent to the Jamna and circle I the rest."

PARAGRAPH 2.

In the first sentence substitute "less than one" for "2.2."

In line 6 substitute "13.8" for "26.1."

In line 8 substitute "3" for "13.1" and after "per cent." delete the remaining words in the sentence and substitute the following :—

"And old fallow 10.4 per cent., a high figure, due to the fact that much of the land is cultivated and left fallow alternately for periods of years."

Page 275.

In the second line after "acres" delete the remaining words in the sentence and substitute the following :—

"The area recorded in 1320 Faslî was 31,907 acres or 55.5 per cent. of the whole, and this proportion is only exceeded in Ekdala and Dhata."

Delete the remaining lines in the first paragraph after "Dhata" in third line and substitute the following :—

"Excluding the alluvial tract, only 5.1 per cent. of the cultivated area was returned at settlement as irrigable, virtually all the irrigation being supplied by the canal. In 1870, 7 per cent. was returned as irrigable, though there was no canal."

PARAGRAPH 2.

Delete the whole of the paragraph and substitute the following :—

"Wheat is grown largely and with success in the alluvial tract, barley, gram, and castor oil being the other crops sown. In the remaining portion of the pargana rabi crops occupied 50.2 per cent. of the whole cultivated area at settlement, and kharif crops 57.3 per cent., the double-cropped area being only 7.5 per cent., though this figure, owing to the canal, is more than three times as great as in 1870.

In the rabi barley (nearly always mixed), with 23.4 per cent., is the most important crop and is followed by gram (17.2 per cent.) and wheat (8.9 per cent.). In the kharif, juar (22.5 per cent.) and bajra (21 per cent) are the favourite crops, cotton occupying 6.1 per cent. and rice only 2.5 per cent. The area under sugarcane is negligible."

PARAGRAPH 3.

In the first sentence after "Brahmans" delete "and" and add "Musalmans," and after "Kewats" add "and Ahirs."

In the fourth line substitute "49·3" for "43" and in the fifth line substitute "29·3" for "32."

In line 8 substitute "15·4" for "23."

In the last line substitute "five" for "four" and "immediately before settlement was Rs. 4-0-10 per acre, occupancy tenants paying Rs. 3-14-6" for "Rs. 4-0-10 per acre, occupancy tenants paying Rs. 3-14-9" ending in the first line in page 276.

Page 276.

In the second line substitute "1870" for "the settlement."

In the fourth line substitute "37" for "38," "168" for "164," and "16" for "22."

In line 5 substitute "13" for "28" and in line 6 read "46" for "24" and "ten" for "seven."

Delete the sentence "In 1905...Ghazipur" commencing in line 11 and substitute the following:—

"In the recent settlement the demand was increased by 5·3 per cent., and the incidence per acre, viz. Rs. 1-15-6, is the lowest in the district, though closely approximating to that of Ghazipur."

Commence a new paragraph after "Ghazipur" in line 14.

In the fourth line substitute "Rasulabad" for "Bahrampur."

In the fifth line, from bottom, delete "lower" before "primary"

In the last sentence substitute "1,582" for "1,581" and "2,500" for "2,476," and read "Prasad" for "Parshad."

Page 278.

Substitute the following for the last sentence, e. g. "The village lands . . . Teli" in the second paragraph.

"The village Baigaon with its chak covers 2,156 acres and is divided into thirteen mahals assessed at Rs. 2,427; owned chiefly by Rajputs and a Teli."

RARK.

In the third line, from bottom, delete "an aided school" and substitute "a primary school for boys and also a girls' school."

In the last line substitute "3,890" for "3,712"

Page 279.

In the last sentence in the second paragraph substitute "1,147" for "1,252" and "1,690" for "1,700"

In the fourth line substitute "5,000" for "5,011" and in line 10 delete "lower" before "primary"

TAPPA JAR PARGANA. PARAGRAPH 1.

In the last line of the first paragraph substitute "68,899" for "68,421," and "107.6" for "107."

PARAGRAPH 2.

In line 7 substitute "tarai" for "kachhar."

Page 285.

In the second line substitute "tarai" for "kachhar" and in the third line delete "very."

Page 286.

After "area" in the first line delete the remaining words in the first paragraph, e. g. "amounting...per cent." and substitute the following:—

"At the last settlement the pargana was divided into two circles, circle I being the land north and east of the Rind and circle II that south and west of it with the exception of the villages, viz. Daryabad and Mau, which, though lying on the left bank of the Rind, were included in circle II as having the same physical characteristics as the rest of that tract. The alluvial tract was dealt with separately."

PARAGRAPH 2.

Delete the lines 1 to 14 from "Groves" to "fallow" and substitute the following:—

"At settlement less than one per cent. of the whole area was classed as grove, but it must be remembered that this is virtually confined to a single tract. The barren area amounted to 24·8 per cent., and this high proportion is mainly due to the ravines, for though there is a certain amount of usar its extent is comparatively small, and it is found only in the Bari Nadi valley. The ravine-land contains numerous patches of thorn-scrub of some value for grazing purposes, but apart from this there are no jungles in the pargana. Culturable waste covered 3·4 per cent, and old fallow 10·3 per cent., this high figure being due to the fact that in the Jamna tract much land is cultivated and left fallow alternately for periods of years."

In line 14 delete "last" before "Settlement" and add "1870" after "Settlement."

Delete the words "1,905 to 37,807 acres . . . or 55·3 per cent. of the whole" after "in" in lines 9 and 10 from bottom, and substitute "1320 fasli to 37,014 acres or 53·6 per cent. of the whole."

Delete the words "before the extension . . . per cent." beginning in line 7 and ending in line 2 from bottom and substitute the following:—

"At settlement, excluding the alluvial tract, 60 per cent. of the cultivated area in circle I was classed as irrigable, and only 5 per cent. in circle II, the percentage for the whole pargana being 41·3, 30·2 supplied by the canal, and 8 by wells."

Page 287.

Delete the last sentence, viz. "In 1905 . . . cultivation" in the first paragraph.

Substitute the following for the second paragraph, e.g. " the rabi...tenants."

" In the alluvial tract wheat is the most important crop and fine crops of this are seen; barley, gram, and castor-oil are the other crops seen. In the remainder of the pargana rabi crops occupied 58·2 per cent. of the cultivated area at settlement, and kharif crops 55·1 per cent., the double-cropped area amounting to 13·4 per cent. Barley (generally mixed) with 29·7 per cent. is the favourite rabi crop, and gram with 16·6 per cent. comes next, the percentage of wheat being 10·8. Wheat also is generally mixed. In the kharif by far the largest area, viz. 25 per cent., is occupied by juar. Bajra occupies 7·9 per cent. cotton 7·6 per cent., and rice 6·9 per cent., less than one per cent. is sown with sugarcane."

PARAGRAPH 3.

After the word " are " in the first line delete the remaining words in the sentence and substitute the following :—

" Brahmans, Kurmis, Rajputs, Musalmans, Kewats and Ahirs; but the Kurmis hold no less than 18 per cent. of the cultivated area. There are few Murais and virtually no Lodhs."

In the fourth line substitute " 69 " for " 54·7 " and in the last line " 5·2 " for " six " and " 22 " for " 26."

Page 288.

In the first line substitute " 4·2 " for " 2·5 " and after " rent-rate " in the second line delete the remaining words in the sentence and substitute the following :—

" Immediately before settlement was Rs. 4-11-11 per acre, occupancy tenants paying Rs. 4-7-11."

In line 8 substitute " 331 " for " 325 " and " 122 " for " 125 " and in line 9 substitute " 173 " for " 183 " and " 34 " for " 17," deleting " and " before " 17."

In line 10 after " perfect " add " and 2 imperfect."

After the word " Rajputs " in line 11 add " the former being largely descendants of converted Rajputs."

Delete the words " and the demand in 1905 " in line 12 and substitute the following for the last sentence, viz. " The incidence...average " in the first paragraph :—

" At the last settlement the demand was increased by 5·36 per cent., and the present incidence per acre of cultivation is Rs. 2-10-6, slightly above the district average."

In the fifth line delete "opposite the latter is."

In line 7 substitute "Rasulabad" for "Bahrampur" and delete "which it is proposed to call Thariaon."

In line 9 delete "lower" before "primary."

In line 12, from bottom of the page, substitute "4,813" for "4,809" and in line 11 substitute "514" for "623."

In line 7, from bottom, substitute "8,035" for "5,530" and in the same line and line 6 substitute "Raja of Asothar" for "a Bisen family."

Page 292.

In the first line substitute "9" for "11" and in the third line "964" for "1,014."

TINDULI.

In the last sentence of the first paragraph delete the words "though this also is greatly in need of repair" and substitute the following:—

" ; It has recently been repaired extensively with plain red brick, and has lost most of its picturesqueness."

In the second line, from bottom of the page, substitute "2,240" for "1,705."

Supplementary notes and statistics to

VOLUME XXIII

OF THE

District Gazetteers of the United Provinces of Allahabad and Oudh.

ALLAHABAD !

Printed by W. C. Abel, Offg. Supdt., Government Press, United Provinces, 1914.

Alterations and Additions to Part A of the Allahabad District Gazetteer bringing it up to date (1913-14).

CHAPTER I.

Page 22.—CATTLE DISEASES.

The District Board no longer maintains the Veterinary hospital; it was abolished in 1910. One is however maintained by the Municipal Board.

Page 25.—HEALTH.

The total number of births in 1912 was 59,952, and of deaths 36,614, compared with 60,276 births in and 55,861 deaths in 1911.

FEVER.

In 1912 fever was the cause of more deaths than any other disease, but the number of fatal cases was only 22,490 as compared with 35,569 in 1911. Malaria did not appear in epidemic form and it is uncertain what proportion of cases returned as "fever" was malaria.

CHOLERA.

The district was comparatively free from cholera in 1912, only 246 deaths being recorded, a number considerably below the average.

SMALL-POX.

In 1911 and 1912 the number of deaths from small-pox was very small; 64 in 1911 and 65 in 1912.

Vaccination is compulsory in the Allahabad Municipality and Cantonments, and in Phulpur. The staff comprises an Assistant Superintendent and 28 vaccinators.

PLAGUE.

In 1912 there was a marked decrease in plague, the deaths recorded being 2,371 compared with 4,210 in 1911.

OTHER DISEASES.

These included in 1912: Dysentery 168 deaths and Respiratory diseases 260. There were 48 deaths from suicide, 51 from wounds, 509 from accidents and 218 from snake-bite.

CHAPTER II.

Page 56.—WAGES.

Since 1911 wages for coolies in the city have risen to four annas. Masons and carpenters receive eight annas or more.

Page 61.—BANKS.

Rai Radla Rawan died in November 1912 leaving three minor sons.

Page 61.—VILLAGE BANKS.

The societies mentioned on pages 61 and 62 except Ramnagar and Kara all ended in failure because insufficient capital was provided and no expert advice was available for the guidance of the management. Since however the passing of the Co-operative Credit Societies Act of 1904 there has been a considerable development and the existing institutions are flourishing and expanding concerns. Altogether there are 3 central and 49 local (or village) societies registered under the Act. The central societies are as follows:—

- (1) Kara in tahsil Sirathu, under the management of M. Jamal Ahmad. This bank has 25 affiliated societies and a working capital of Rs. 33,000.
- (2) Ramnagar in tahsil Meja under the control of M. Kashi Prasad has 8 dependent societies and a working capital of Rs. 11,000.
- (3) Prayag (i.e. Allahabad itself) which is controlled by Mr. A. H. C. Hamilton, Barrister-at-Law. This is a most excellent institution and it is expanding rapidly. It already has a capital of Rs. 36,000 and 16 dependent societies. Some of these societies consist of artisans and the bank is doing a most useful work in fostering the small industries of the town.

Page 65.—FACTORIES.

The Naini Sugar Refinery Company lost money and had to go into liquidation but has now been leased to a Cawnpore firm.

Page 71.—MAGH MELA.

The Sangam has now again receded and there is ample room for the mela encampment on the sand between it and the fort.

Page 75.—EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

The Jumna bridge has been widened in 1912-13 to carry a second line of rails.

Page 76.—ODDH AND ROHILKHAND RAILWAY.

The new line from Phapha Mau to Rae Bareli and Unao has been opened for traffic. The stations in this district are at Atrampur for Nawabganj, at Ram Chaura road and at Lalgopalganj.

Page 76—BENGAL AND NORTH-WESTERN RAILWAY.

The new bridge at Jhunsi was opened in 1912 and traffic ran into Tirbeni Prayag Station at Daraganj the name of which has now been changed to Izat Bridge. In May 1913 the remaining section of line to the terminus at Malaka was opened for traffic, and the new station given the name of Allahabad city.

Page 77.—PROVINCIAL ROADS.

The total length of Provincial roads in the district is 126·2 miles, the additional length consisting of 1·1 mile on the Allahabad Fyzabad road, and a short feeder to Phulpur Railway Station.

LOCAL ROADS.

First class roads total 94·25 miles. The additional length consists of a section of 1·3 mile on the Allahabad-Sarai Aqil road and a new road, 2·3 miles in length, from Sheogarh to Siwait Railway Station, while the road from Sirsa to Kuraon is now metalled throughout. There is now no road from Sahson to Sarai Chandi Railway Station, but it is proposed to lay out a kachcha road shortly.

Second class roads class A aggregate 49·5 miles only, and class B 78·2 miles. Sixth class roads aggregate 381 miles.

Page 79.—BUNGALOWS.

The Inspection houses at Khiri and Partabpur and Malak Harhar have been abolished. There is a small rest house now at Bara, the bungalow built for famine purposes having been re-roofed with permanent materials.

CHAPTER III.Page 83.—CENSUS OF 1901.

The decrease of population was nearly 60,000 and there was no excess of births over deaths. The death rate showed an excess of 1·6 per mile over the birth rate.

CENSUS OF 1911.

The fourth Synchronous Census of the United Provinces was taken on March 10th, 1911. The total population of the Allahabad district was found to be 1,467,136 ; the figures showed a further decline of 23,261 since 1901. Both immigration and emigration had increased especially the latter ; the decline of natural population was less than 10,000. Deaths recorded in the years 1901—10 showed an excess of 11·575 over births, the birth rate being 39·8 per mille and the death rate 40·5. There was an increase of population of 1·5 per cent. in Tahsil Meja, and of 1·2 in Bara and a smaller increase in Karchhana and Manjhanpur, the decrease being most marked in Handia (5·5) and Phulpur (3·6). The average density per square mile was 513 for the district as a whole, or 457 omitting the city population. The average density for the various tahsils was, Allahabad 1,071, Sirathu 540, Manjhanpur 478, Soraon 683, Phulpur 573, Handia 583, Karchhana 487, Bara 221, and Meja 265.

The average number of houses per square mile for the whole district was 118, as against 108, in 1901, and the average number of persons per house 4·3 as against 4·8 in 1901.

Page 84.—MIGRATION.

The number of immigrants was 91,588 in 1901 and 96,985 in 1911, while the number of emigrants rose from 117,508 in 1901 to 135,203 in 1911. The increase in immigrants was partly accounted for by the presence in Allahabad of a number of people in connection with the Exhibition. Of the immigrants 64,000 came from contiguous districts and 14,000 from other parts of the province ; of the emigrants however only 51,000 went to contiguous districts, and 58,000 to other provinces or over-seas. The majority of immigrants from or emigrants to adjoining districts were females, of the former 218 females to 100 males and of the latter 292 females to 100 males. Between 1901—1911, 3,168 emigrants from Allahabad sailed from Calcutta to various British Colonies.

Page 85.—TOWNS AND VILLAGES.

At this census there were 3,513 towns and villages ; 3,296 containing not more than 1,000 inhabitants each, and 215 not more than 5,000.

SEX.

Of the total population 744,382 were males, and 722,754 females, almost the whole decline of population is therefore among females. Only in Soraoon and to a less extent in Meja are females in excess of males. In tahsils Allahabad and Sirathu, where the total population has decreased, the male population has actually increased.

Page 86.—RELIGION.

At this census Hindus numbered 1,260,092 ; Musalmans, 197,621 ; Christians, 7,055 ; Sikhs, 1,033 ; Jains, 637 ; Aryas, 592 ; Parsis, 86 ; Buddhists, 16 ; Brahmos, 2 ; Jews, 2.

The Hindus constitute 85.89 per cent. and Musalmans 13.47 per cent. of the population.

Page 87.—HINDUS.

The majority of Hindus were recorded as not belonging to any particular sect, only 89,695 being recorded as Vaishnavas and 7,043 as Saivas.

Page 88.—HINDU CASTES.

Sixty-seven castes were recorded, 17 of them comprising more than 20,000 persons each and seven more than 10,000 each.

Brahmans numbered 164,485 and no Bhuinhars were recorded in this district.

Page 89.

Chamars numbered 157,492 and Ahirs 143,098 ; Kurmis and Pasis had increased in number considerably since the last census ; they numbered 111,540 and 91,203 respectively in 1901 and 131,532 and 115,533 in 1911.

Page 91.

A great decrease was shown in the Rajput population who numbered 63,489 in 1901 and only 44,739 in 1911. The proportion of Rajput females to males had risen slightly but was still only 83 to 100. Koris numbered 21,635, or less than half the total recorded at the last census, and Gadaryas 43,024.

Page 92.

The total of Baniyas was 37,487, or nearly 4,000 less than in 1901. Of the sub-castes recorded the Kasarwanis numbered 25,498 ; the Agarwalas, 2,834 ; the Agraharis, 3,739 ; the Kasaimdahs, only 133, and the Rastogis 587 ; Kachhis numbered 27,848 ; Kewats 29,559, and Mallahs ; 18,334.

Page 93.

The number of the remaining important castes was as follows : Telis, 26,574 ; Lohars, 24,713 ; Kumhars 22,914 ; Dhobis, 19,606 ;

Kayasths, 20,233 ; Nais, 16,685 ; Kahars, 15,513 ; Lodhs, 14,202 ; Kols, 24,869 ; Bharbhunja, 13,754 ; Kalwars, 13,574 ; Barbais, only 2,018 ; Sonars, 8,672 ; Khatiks, 5,846 ; Bhangis, 8,604 ; Lunias, 7,770 ; Bhats, 4,038 ; Darzis, 3,945 ; Arakhs, 2,799 ; Dharkara, 5,164 ; and Khattris, 2,950. Doms numbered 107 and 71 Bhars were recorded.

Of the wandering tribes Kanjars have increased from 1,036 to 2,786, while Nats have decreased to 533 and no Berias at all were recorded.

Page 94.—MUSALMANS.

The Sunni sect comprised 122,040 persons and the Shia sect 3,946. Fifty-seven castes were recorded, of which only 4 comprised more than 10,000 persons each and 41 had less than 1,000 members.

Page 95.

The Sheikhs numbered 66,255 and the Julahas 30,823 ; Behnas were not recorded.

Page 96.

Pathans numbered 20,567, and Saiyids 12,851.

The figures of other castes are as follows :—

Nais, 7,926 ; Faqirs, 7,887 ; Kunjras, 3,826 ; Darzis, 5,102 ; Qassabs, 2,702 ; Rajputs, only 483 ; Churihars and Manihars, 2,242 ; Dafalis, 2,433 ; Bhatiaras, 1,178 ; Bhangis, 716 ; Mughals, 677 ; Bhats, 1,716 ; Ahirs, 1,455 ; Bhists, 296 ; Chamars, 5,240 ; Chhipis, 282 ; Chiks, 881 ; Dhunias, 10,935 ; Goriyas, 638 ; Halwais, 840 ; Kayasths, 1,010 ; Mallahs, 557 ; Nats, 884 ; and Nau-muslims, 875. No Kingarias were recorded and only 2 Gaddis.

Page 98.—CHRISTIANITY MISSIONS.

Indian Christians numbered 2,399, and of these 693 were recorded as Anglicans, 100 males and 60 females as Roman Catholics, 324 as Presbyterians, 145 as Methodists, 111 as Baptists, 247 as Unsectarians Protestants, and 692 as of no specified denomination.

Page 99.—OTHER RELIGIONS.

There was a great increase in the numbers of the Arya Samaj, which comprised 256 persons in 1901 and 592 in 1911.

OCCUPATIONS.

Agriculture was shown to support 1,042,834 persons, or 71.1 per cent. of the total population, commerce supported 97,253, or 6·6 per cent., professions 16,913, or 1·2 per cent. and industries 160,424, or 10·9 per cent. For the various branches of industry the figures are as follows : —Textiles, 21,662; leather, &c., 2,872; wood, 9,957; metals, 9,315; glass pottery, &c., 12,449; chemical products oil, &c., 14,719; food, 19,339; clothing, dyeing, &c., 41,144; furniture, building, &c., 6,349; and industries of luxury, jewellers, &c., 15,250. Domestic service supported 31,576 persons; public administration, 26,216; and general labour, 35,697; while 20,252 were recorded as being without occupation.

Page 100.—LANGUAGE.

Hindi was spoken by 1,322,713 or 90 per cent. of the population, and Urdu by 134,774 or 9·2 per cent.

Page 109.—OTHER RAJPUTS.

Thakur Maghan Singh has died and has been succeeded by Thakur Har Partap Singh, Honorary Magistrate, and his brothers and nephew.

The Tardih estate has now been released from the Court of Wards.

Page 112.—OTHER LAND-HOLDERS.

Rai Radha Rawan is dead and has been succeeded by three sons Amar Nath, Ram Charan, and Ram Kishore.

Page 114.—GOVERNMENT ESTATES.

There is now no special Manager for Government estates. The large Holagarh and Khargapur properties have been leased for a term of 10 years to Messrs. Fox and Aitchison and the confiscated and other small estates are managed by the Collector with the help of an Assistant Manager.

Page 132.—REVISION IN GANGAPAR AND DUAB.

As the extended period of settlement in the Trans-Ganges and Duab parganas drew to a close in 1911, the question of a revision was again examined. It was then ascertained that besides providing for a readjustment of the demand which was much required in the Duab parganas and other matters, a revision was likely to result in at least a small enhancement of revenue. The Government accordingly decided that a resettlement should be undertaken. During the course of the years orders were issued for the correction of maps and records under the superintendence of the Collector and the district staff. Operations were commenced with Handia and Chail tahsils, where, after the preliminary training of the patwaris in survey, the maps were corrected under the supervision of inspectors and qanungos and various miscellaneous records prepared during the cold season of 1911-12. At the beginning of March 1912, an assistant record officer was appointed to attest the records under the control of the Collector as record officer. Some confusion however seems to have existed regarding the orders of the Board as to whether a complete revision of records was to be carried out or not, with the result that very little work either of writing up records, or fairing of maps or attestation, was done during the year. A cursory check of the maps moreover showed that in some cases the work of correction had been far from satisfactory and it was considered necessary that the errors should be put right before the work of record writing was attempted. Meanwhile also the programme of operations was changed, and it was decided that the Chail Pargana, instead of being brought under settlement operations in the first, should be brought under them in the second year. No further steps accordingly were taken as regards Chail and the hot season of 1912 passed without much progress being made in Handia. Towards the end of October, the work was again started in earnest and during the cold season of 1912-13 the maps of Handia tahsil were all rechecked, the records gradually written up while map correction was redone in Chail and put in hand in Soraon and Phulpur. Mr. D. L. Drake-Brockman was appointed Settlement Officer at the beginning of November and started the work of village inspection in Handia. Attestation of records in that tahsil began properly on January 1st, 1913, each village being taken up as the patwaris completed its records. At the beginning of May a second assistant record officer was appointed and by May 30th the attestation of the whole tahsil was finished. Meanwhile the patwaris of Chail, Phulpur and Soraon after finishing their map correction had been set to writing the records of their villages and early in June attestation was commenced in Soraon and Phulpur, that of Chail being left over to a subsequent date. The work was still in progress at the time of writing.

CHAPTER IV.

Page 135.—POLICE.

There are now four European Sergeants, and three Visiting Inspectors.

Page 136.—POLICE STATIONS.

Nawabganj thana is now near Atrampur Station on the new line.

CRIME.

Burglaries are also frequently reported in Nawabganj and Mau Aima.

Page 139.—EXCISE.

The distillery at Phulpur has been abolished, and the distillery at Rasulabad is now the only one in the district.

It does not now export liquor to Banda, where the contract system of supply has been introduced, nor to Jaunpur which has its own distillery. Liquor is also imported under bond from the Fyzabad distillery for consumption in the district. There are two bonded warehouses for storage of country spirit, one at Phulpur and the other attached to the Rasulabad distillery.

The rates of stillhead duty are Rs. 3 per gallon 25 U. P. and Rs. 2 per gallon 50 U. P. in the urban area, and Rs. 2-4-0 per gallon 25 U. P. and Re. 1-8-0 per gallon 50 U. P. in the rural area.

Page 140.—HEMP DRUGS.

There is a bonded warehouse for storage of ganja and charas at the Rasulabad distillery. The supply of ganja comes from Nawgaon (Rajshahi) and that of charas from Amritsar and Hoshiarpur. In 1911-12 the duty on charas rose from 8 annas to 12 annas, while the duty on bhang and ganja remained unchanged.

OPIMUM.

The farming system introduced in 1908 failed to check smuggling and in April 1910 the shop to shop system was reintroduced. The price of opium has been raised from Rs. 17 to Rs. 22 a seer, and the supply to city shops restricted. Cases of smuggling to Burma are still occasionally detected.

POPPY.

Is cultivated in parganas Kara, Karari, Chail, Arail, Bara, and Khairagarh.

Page 142.—POST OFFICE.

The head office is now in Queen's Road.

Page 144.—ACT XX TOWNS.

Kara has been struck off the list.

DISTRICT BOARD.

The Board now consists of 24 members of whom 18 are elected.

Page 147.—THE UNIVERSITY.

In July 1907 a University School of Law was opened with the object of concentrating law students in Allahabad as far as possible, and providing a good library and efficient teaching. The law classes at the Muir College has been closed, likewise those at Canning and Bareilly Colleges. The Government of India has placed at the disposal of the University a recurring grant of Rs. 45,000, and a non-recurring grant of 3 lakhs. Land has been taken up for a Law Hostel.

In August 1912 a Senate House designed by Sir Swinton Jacob and erected in Church Road was opened by Sir John Hewett. The Law College is under construction adjoining it and the University Library will be built on its opposite side.

The Christian College of the American Mission is now known as the Ewing Christian College after its late Principal Dr. Ewing who died in 1912.

A recent development in this College is the institution of an Agricultural Department which has taken up land across the Jumna bridge and will make use of it as a model agricultural station.

Page 149.—HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARIES.

A dispensary has now (1913) been constructed at Manjhanpur.

Page 150.—CATTLE POUNDS.

The District Board maintains 34 pounds. Those at Mailahan, Jarawan, Naini, Dando, Kuraon, and Sirsa have been abolished and new pounds have been opened at Saidabad and Baraut in Tahsil Handia, at Chak Raghunath in Karchhana, at Tappa Chaurisi and Tappa Daiya, in Meja, and at Garaiha and Sheorajpur in Bara.
